Shall We Celebrate the Fourth? The Fourth of July will be here in four weeks, and what shall be done about it? Bhall we celebrate, and if so, how? As to the first question, there can be but one opinion, for surely if ever there was a time since John Hancock enrolled his name upon the Immortal parchment which here the Declaration of Independence, when it was as that the anniversary of that day should be honored, it is just at this very time. band of desperate traitors have laid their polluted hands upon the Stars and Stripes, and tern it down to give place to the rat- force for Possbonias was appointed to leave the nake and the pelican. To avenge this on Wednesday morning.

Since the above was written, we learn that the same report reached Jacksonport on Monday morning—that a large portion sprung to their feet, and fallen to their place in the ranks, ready to endure hardship and privation and death, until "the Star Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave" over every reballious city and town and hamlet in the hand, and every traitor mitting all sorts of depredations in that has hitten the dust. Such a grand unris. violativ. Some of them tried to take the has bitten the dust. Such a grand uprising has never been seen in the whole history of the world, and we must not let our national birthday go by without celebrating it with all the means in our power.

There will be more meaning in such a of July crations and displays have been in era in juil escaped, and i amediately surned years past looked upon as only the vent their attention to poisoning the wells all around the country. The proposition was at that time declined, but having been renewed yesterday, was accepted by the Secretary of War, and will at once be put in operation. Rifled cannon was what the rebels reduced Sumter with; now let them enjoy the bits of the same "dogs of war,"! That fearful disease, typhoid fever, has
